ENGLISH CHASE THE BOERS

Reports Say the Boers were Dispersed

LEAVE TWENTY-EIGHT PRISONERS

Take Eleven Prisoners From Brantford at Thaba N'Chu.

LONDON, May 3.—The war office posts the following from Lord Roberts:

"Hamilton met with considerable success yesterday and drove the enemy out of a strong position at Houtneck with comparatively small loss to us. The Boers dispersed in several directions, mainly north and east, leaving twenty-six prisoners in our hands, including a commandant and sixteen wounded."

"Hamilton is now encamped at Jacobsburg, and his men are in need of rest after fighting several days. I ordered a halt for today."

"Broadwood's cavalry arrived on the scene in time to render valuable assistance by threatening the enemy's rear."

"The enemy admits that twelve were killed in yesterday's engagement. The German Lieutenant Guenther was included among the list of dead. They had forty wounded including the Russian commander Maximoff of the foreign legion. Twenty-one of the fifty-three casualties on the Boer side belong to the foreign legion. Two Frenchmen of the foreign legion were killed."

"Hamilton praised the chivalry of the Boers and especially commended Gordon who gave the final stroke to the enemy's front. The Shropshires within 200 yards of the enemy's advanced line, cheering loudly. Hamilton also praises Kitchener's horse."

PRETORIA, May 3.—An official bulletin dated April 28th the Federal forces took nine prisoners east of Thaba N'Chu. On April 30th the Boers at a British mounted corps a Brantford and killed nine British, including Captain Liddy. Four prisoners were taken, two were killed."

CAPE TOWN, May 3.—The war office announced the total number of casualties sustained by the British army in South Africa up to April 28th, aggregated 16,868. Of this number 1,116 are Boers."

CAPE TOWN, May 3.—Philip Cronje, Boer who surrendered at Paardeburg and was imprisoned at Simon'sburg, was shot dead there last night by a Boer."

Cronje and other Boers walked beyond the dead line and jeered when the guards ordered them back."

PRETORIA, May 1—(Delayed)—Mr. Bigbie, Jr., who was arrested in connection with the explosion of the Biggie shell factory, at Johannesburg, has been remanded. An American has also been arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the explosion."

DEUR D'ALENES Investigation at Last Brought to a Close.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—The Coeur d'Alene investigation is practically at an end, the committee caring to hear from but one other witness, Lieutenant Lyons, who forced the strikers back to the pumps in the mines. When he has been heard, this afternoon, the case will close with arguments from the counsel for the two sides. The demonstrators wanted more witnesses but the republicans ruled against them."

Kilmarnock Sold for $20,000.

NEW YORK, May 3.—John E. Madden last evening sold to ex-Secretary Whitney his three-year-old colt Kilmarnock, which is proving a sensation among her set. The price paid was $20,000. Yesterday morning in the lot at Morris Park on a slow track, Kilmarnock went a mile carrying 116 pounds easily in 1:40, which horsemen consider a remarkable test."

DALLAS, Texas, May 3.—Statistics of the movements from Texas to markets and grazing grounds of Kansas and Indian Territory to be: cattle, 270,000; sheep, 300,000. The wool clip for the year is twelve million pounds, valued at $2,000,000."

AN ODE TO THE RED MEN.

FOR THE COCHISE REVIEW, BY J. PORTER BENDER.

Over the sands of the desert
And over the trackless plain,
Out of the East and South land
The Order of Red Men came!

At first though few in numbers
Yet each and everyone knew
How to paint and fix the paleface
Till he looked like an Indian too!

So 'neath the hills of Bisbee
There's many a wigwam's door
That looks out into the sunlight
And into a hundred more.

So now on the hill and mountain
When the sun is going down,
There's many a war cry given
That echoes about the town!

And should you be a savage man
No doubt you'd surely be
Called away in the night time
To council beneath a tree!

And many is the white man
Who has tried to guess in vain,
How many mighty warriors
Were in the Redman's train.

So 'twas only fit and proper
To show their greatness off,
To give a parade and blowout
That no paleface dared to scoff!

So the high chiefs and the princess
Painted all in gaudy red,
In buckskin and their moccasins
Were at the procession's head.

With ancient bow and arrow
With a tomahawk and spear,
'Tis true the noble Red Men
Were a sight indeed to fear!

And yet beneath the war-paint
Aye! in each brave's inner heart
He's sworn to help his brother,
And take his sister's part!

So gather your veneration,
For the Order of Red Men grave,
'Cause they will always be your brother
(If you happen to be a brave!)

Perchance you can guess our secret,
For this you must surely spy,
That the paleface and the Indian
Is as white as you or I.

SCHOLDFIELD DISASTER

Most Appalling Ever Known in West

FIRST ESTIMATE TOO LOW

The Loss of Life Will Reach Considerably Beyond Three Hundred.

SALT LAKE, May 3.—Death's winding sheet completely envelopes the famous coal town of Scofield. Every house, without exception, is a house of mourning, and every household is preparing to bury its dead. The agonized shrieks of widows and groans of motherless and fatherless are no longer heard. The stricken ones are beyond that now, and their grief can find no utterance. Yesterday it was stated that the death list, as based on a conservative estimate, would probably exceed 250. It is now known that the estimate is entirely too low, and that in all probability the 300 mark will be passed. The work of taking out the dead continues, and all of the bodies may not be recovered this week. Just now Scofield is a vast morgue with undertakers by the score.

The bodies found near the entrance are badly crushed and bruised, as they received the full force of the explosion. Will Clark, who lost his life while trying to save his father, had a beautiful sister, aged 18, devoted to her brother. When informed this morning of Will's frightful death, she fell dead at her mother's feet. A sad picture was presented at the morgue at mouth of No. 6 tunnel, where, with drawn features and haggard faces, there sat yesterday and today young John Miller, a helper, who is waiting for the bodies of his three brothers, Harry, Bance and Isaac, to be brought out.

Later—Three people have gone insane. A newspaper reporter fainting as he filed his story. One of the saddest stories is that of the Clark family. The father and son were among the first dead found. Another son, Will Clark, rushed into the mine to rescue them. He was waited into death in a trice by the awful after-damp. When the news was broken to the mother a pretty sixteen-year-old sister Lizzie fell dead at her mother's feet. The other three big mines of the coal company are closed down as miners are flocking to help their relatives and friends at Scofield, or at least to rescue their bodies and help the suffering.

The coal company and the Reo Grande Western are both doing everything possible. Salt Lake merchants are sending provisions to the families who have been deprived of support, and the cash subscriptions amount to over $15,000. A carload of flowers will be sent down tonight by the women of Salt Lake. The loss by rescue expenses, claims for damages, loss of mammoth coal contracts and other items will be very great. At present the company is merely working to rescue the dead and alleviate the suffering.

LONDON, May 3.—Central News hears that Commandant Eloff has left Mafeking, practically abandoning the same. A recent dispatch from Mafeking said that General Snyman, one of the Boer commanders conducting the siege at Mafeking, had left the vicinity of Mafeking.

Twenty-five men find employment at the San Francisco mine and mill, Cedar district. They ship gold bullion regularly. The Cedar district is fast coming to the front.

The Empire mine at Chloride is about to have the water pumped out of it and work resumed. The Empire in early days produced a large amount of high-grade ore.—Mineral Wealth.

Jim Letson has brought up some very rich ore from the South Bisbee. The samples displayed are taken from the lead without being specially picked, showing the great possibilities of this mine and the certainty of its future prominence among the paying propositions of this district.

Mr. Burrage of the Butte and Boston company, is expected in Gilbert any day to see to letting the contract for sinking a 400-foot shaft, for which the figures are already in and waiting for him.

KILLED BY BICYCLE.

Girl Bicyclist Loses Control of Her Wheel With Fatal Results.

ATLANTIC HIGHLANDS, N. J., May 3.—William Gorman, a well known resident of this place, was killed on Shrewsbury bridge on Sunday night. He saw a young woman on a bicycle come tearing down the steep approach to the bridge, and realizing that she had lost control of the machine, he endeavored to save himself by holding close to the rail, but the young woman's head struck against his nose, knocking him down. A violent hemorrhage of the nose followed. Gorman died last night. The young woman made off without giving her name.
